

Workshop participants

Mohcine Ait Ramdan, Ludwig-Maximilians-University Munich
Nabiha Atallah, Immigrant Services Association of Nova Scotia, Halifax, NS
Mohammed Baobaid, Muslim Resource Centre for Social Support and Integration, London, ON Simone Chia-Kangata, Child and Refugee Research Coalition (CYRRC), Dalhousie University, Halifax, NS
Ingrid Dietrich, Heidelberg University of Education
Havva Engin, Heidelberg University of Education
Christin Förster, Leibniz Institute for Educational Trajectories (LIfBi), Bamberg
Monika Gonser, Heidelberg University of Education
Lena Guderjahn, Goethe University Frankfurt/Main
Magdalene Hengst, Leibniz Institute for Research in Education (DIPF), Frankfurt/Main
Annette Korntheuer, City of Munich
Anna Lautenschlager, Ludwig-Maximilians-University Munich
Katrin Lindner, Ludwig-Maximilians-University Munich
Débora Maehler, Leibniz Institute for the Social Sciences (GESIS), Mannheim
Jutta von Maurice, Leibniz Institute for Educational Trajectories (LIfBi), Bamberg
Nicola Mühlhäußer, Leibniz Institute for Research in Education (DIPF), Frankfurt/Main
Steffen Pötzschke, Leibniz Institute for the Social Sciences (GESIS), Mannheim
Howard Ramos, Dalhousie University, Halifax, NS
Verena Schmid, Heidelberg University
Anne Sliwka, Heidelberg University
Christina Tausch, Frankfurt International School (FIS)
Michael Ungar, Dalhousie University, Halifax, NS
Joanna Wegerer, Goethe University Frankfurt/ Main
Dominik Weigand, Leibniz Institute for Educational Trajectories (LIfBi), Bamberg
Lori Wilkinson, University of Manitoba, Winnipeg, MB
Karin Zimmer, University of Vechta

More information on Integration CAN-D

The workshop is part of an ongoing research co-operation between Canada and Germany on the integration of refugees. The Canadian coalition CYRRC -the Child and Youth Refugee Research Coalition- and the German network LERN - Leibniz Education Research Network - are supporting this cooperation by organizing and facilitating joint research activities and presentations. The associated projects are funded by the BMBF- Federal Ministry of Education and Research of Germany and ERASMUS+ - the Jean Monnet Activities, the program for promoting excellence in teaching and research of the European Union.

For further information on the workshop and the project please contact the project co-ordinator Nicola Mühlhäußer at muehlhaeusser@dipf.de or LERN-CAN-D@dipf.de

<http://leibniz-bildungspotenziale.de/integration-can-d>

<http://cyrrc.org/current-research/canger-collaboration/>

Second Integration-CAN-D Joint Research Workshop

December 12-14, 2018

Heidelberg University of Education
Centre of Transfer
Bergheimer Straße 104

Heidelberg

Wednesday, December 12

1:00pm-1:30pm Welcome and introductions
snacks, sandwiches and coffee will be provided

1:30pm-2:15pm Knowledge transfer in refugee integration – current approaches

Monika Gonser, Heidelberg University of Education,
Karin Zimmer, University of Vechta &
Nicola Mühlhäußer, Leibniz Institute for Research in Education

2:15pm-5:00pm Communication and consultation
including a 15 min coffee break

Howard Ramos, Dalhousie University

- Ordering preferences and rhythms: considerations in translating academic research on immigration and refugees for media, policy makers, and the broader public

Dominik Weigand & Christin Förster, Leibniz Institute for Educational Trajectories

- Communication and information in ReGES – refugees in the German educational system

Nabiha Atallah, Immigrant Services Association of Nova Scotia, Halifax, NS

Mohammed Baobaid, Muslim Resource Centre for Social Support and Integration, London, ON

Annette Korntheuer, City of Munich

- Service providers' perspectives on knowledge mobilization

5:00pm-5:30pm Wrap-up

7:00pm Dinner (self-paid)

Thursday, December 13

9:30am-12:00pm Education and training

Anne Sliwka, Heidelberg University & Ingrid Dietrich,
Heidelberg University of Education

- Constructing relationships and taking responsibility as knowledge transfer: students as teaching assistants in German lessons for refugees.

Havva Engin, Heidelberg University of Education

- On-the-job-training for administration employees in the context of forced migration

Mochine Ait Ramdan, Ludwig-Maximilians University Munich

- Knowledge mobilization in refugee education and training projects

Anna Lautenschlager, Ludwig-Maximilians-University Munich

- Mentors support refugee children – the project "LUK!" and its implications for teacher training

12:00pm-12:30pm Wrap-up

12:30pm-1:30pm Lunch break

1:30pm-4:30pm Cooperation
including a 15-30 min coffee break

Monika Gonser, Heidelberg University of Education &
Verena Schmid, Heidelberg University

- Real-World laboratory: asylum seekers in the Rhine Neckar region (Real-Labor Asyl)

Lena Guderjahn & Joanna Wegerer, Goethe University
Frankfurt/Main

- Dialogue between research and practice: The Competence Centre School Psychology Hessen

Lori Wilkinson, University of Manitoba

- Collaboration without boundaries: an academic perspective on research partnerships

4:30pm-5:00pm Wrap-up

7:00pm Dinner (Restaurant Tati)

Friday, December 14

9:30am-11:30am Transfer in joint research projects: concepts, strategies and practice

Michael Ungar, Dalhousie University

- Youth-led and participatory approaches to knowledge mobilization

Simone Chia-Kangata, Child and Refugee Research
Coalition

- The CYRRC's approach to partnership and knowledge mobilization

Katrin Lindner, Ludwig-Maximilians-University Munich

- Specific needs of refugee students in language and literacy acquisition in Germany: statements from their teachers

Verena Schmid, Heidelberg University

- Knowledge transfer(s) in a comparative research project on media and refugee integration

11:30am-1:00pm Wrap-up, feedback and conclusion:
Where do we go from here?

13:00pm Farewell and lunch snack

